

The home where life flourishes

Nestled in the tranquil village of Willerby, Willersley House stands proudly amid a host of local amenities, including a post office, a library and charming cafés. Originally the home was part of Joseph Rank's benevolent fund, a renowned figure in the flour industry. The building carries a rich history and is now one of the few care homes in the UK to achieve an "Outstanding" rating across all categories from the CQC.

Our lovely home offers 34 single, en-suite bedrooms, each designed for comfort and privacy, providing high-quality residential care. Residents are encouraged to personalise their spaces, making each room feel like home. With three floors, communal dining areas, and a grand staircase reminiscent of the Titanic, the home combines character with modern care.

Willersley House care home is proud to be rated Outstanding by the CQC.

The dedication of our team at Willersley House, who take great pride in their person-centred approach ensures that all of our residents receive the support and care they need and deserve.

Gardens for all seasons

The gardens are a favourite retreat for residents, offering a peaceful setting to relax or socialise. With a large lawn, a courtyard for gardening projects, and patio areas, the outdoor spaces are designed to be both accessible and enjoyable.

Residents can take part in seasonal planting, growing their own flowers and herbs, while bird feeders attract local wildlife, creating a peaceful retreat. The scent of fresh blossoms and the gentle hum of bees add to the sensory delight, making it a truly immersive outdoor experience.

Our gardens are more than just outdoor spaces they're places to create memories, connect with nature, and enjoy the beauty of each season.

Staff at Willersley House are kind and caring and know the residents, always referring to them by name.

A taste of home

Mealtimes are always about more than just food - they're moments of comfort, joy, and connection.

Led by Chef Michael, who brings over a decade of experience, the kitchen team prepares fresh, home-cooked meals using locally sourced ingredients.

Resident favourites include the fish and chip suppers on Fridays and of course the tradition of having a lovely roast on Sunday.

Micheal's signature dessert is a delicious banoffee pie and this sweet way to end a great meal never fails to impress.

Menus are designed with resident input, ensuring their tastes and dietary needs are met. Afternoon teas, cheese and wine afternoons, and buffet trolleys offering treats like sausage rolls, trifles, and sponge cakes add variety to the food experience.

Dining is about creating a homely atmosphere where every resident feels cared for and included.

What you can expect at Willersley House:

Living later life well

We believe life should be filled with fun, laughter, and plenty of good company! Our activities are all about bringing people together and sparking friendships.

Whether it's a friendly game of bingo, a creative crafting session, or a lively quiz, there's always something to enjoy. Plus, visiting entertainers keep things exciting with singalongs and gentle chair exercises that get everyone moving.

Trips to local gems like Hornsea Beach, Hull's Ferens Art Gallery, and The Deep aquarium offer residents the chance to explore, reminisce, and connect with the wider community.

Seasonal events bring everyone together, with the summer fete buzzing with energy and cheese and wine afternoons creating the perfect atmosphere for relaxation and conversation.

At Willersley House, every day is about making new memories, sharing laughter, and enjoying the warmth of a supportive community.

My overall experience here is positive. The staff have been supportive and always polite and caring.
